One of the main priorities of the French Presidency of the Council of the EU is to build a more sovereign Europe by:

- strengthening the Schengen area and protecting European borders;
- managing migrations and improving the asylum policy, in line with Europe's values and its international commitments;
- building a stronger Europe which is more capable of action in the fields of security and defence;
- taking action for the prosperity and stability of its neighbours, particularly through its engagement in the Western Balkans and its renewed relationship with Africa;
- bringing forth solutions to global challenges.

Since February 2022, and the Russian attack on Ukraine, the EU faces new security challenges: what are the current threat perceptions for the EU? How can Europe address this new geopolitical reality?
